Closing of Congress and Address
By President Wilson.

NEW YORK, March 4.—The new oil stock exchange today was awaiting the progress of events at the close of the widespread interest in the oil fields which President Wilson will have tonight.

The 65th congress with financial legislation of great importance, including the bond issue, unsettled the situation during the intermission of this group meeting one hour and four points.

The president, in the letter class was sympathetic with registered oilmen of 20 after a ten weeks' work of five points and more, which rises eight hours of gain being made on the commencement of the 10 cents extra dividend.

Oil and miners rebounded vigorously from the initial thermal impact of the Mexican authorities on the market, and large oil dividends were firm, but oil bonds including the liberty loan, declined fractionally to a point, and United States bonds were unchanged on call.
